RMQM exhibits through July 19

SAQA Broad Spectrum: Abundant Palette Main Gallery

The Montana / Idaho region of SAQA artists were invited to explore the variety of meanings, images and experiences evoked by the theme Broad Spectrum: Abundant Palette. The natural surroundings and geographic beauty of the region are reflected in many of the works. The boundaries of tradition are pushed as well as established materials used in new and exciting ways. Many works express thoughts, moods or personal stories. Experiments with surface design result in some dynamic works. Repurposing found materials as well as creating something totally new from older more traditional items is evident in some works as well.

Colorado Japanese American Women's Quilt Project Northeast Gallery

90 women created 9 quilts telling stories of 72 families. Each quilt represents a culturally rich depiction of heritage, daily life, and family journeys, providing a tangible story of the experiences across generations of women of Japanese ancestry in Colorado and neighboring states. The quilt panels were designed to resemble Japanese scrolls traditionally displayed in a place of honor and represent the roots of the women.

The exhibit will include a self-guided audio tour of narration of the women's stories behind the creation for some of the blocks. Japanese prints paired with American material prints using sashiko quilting, applique, embroidery, machine/hand quilting, and simple pieced quilting, create these simple yet extraordinary quilts.

Open 10am to 4pm daily except Sundays RMQM opens at 11am. SOME SUNDAYS have special events for limited attendance. Please Check Sunday at the Museum dates and website for special event hours.

June 19, Scott Flanagan “Behind the Scenes.” In-person and on Zoom.

Returning to our Guild is Longmont native Scott Flanagan.

Scott of 4th & Main Designs unveils the inspiration and intricate processes that shape his celebrated quilting designs.

A rare opportunity to witness how ideas evolve from sketches to stunning finished patterns. Whether you're a seasoned quilter or a curious beginner, you'll leave with valuable insights and a deeper appreciation for the art of quilting. He has been busy in Nebraska designing his newest patterns for 4th and Main Designs.

Scott has a new book being released in November "Forever Fabulous FQ Quilts".

For those who happen to have the Electric Quilt Program, the May free “Fabric of the Month” is designed by Scott.

Check out the free TEXTILE TALKS with a new edition posted every Wednesday on YouTube. It's sponsored by 6 fiber arts groups so topics vary but they are free & on demand.

I watch them while I sew & if the topic doesn't appeal to me, I go to the next one (There are over 70 now). It's one silver lining to the pandemic.

On a personal note, I had Mike service my machines & he did an excellent job.

He charges a service fee but its so much better than dragging a machine to a shop, leaving it a week & dragging it home again.

He lugged them upstairs to his service truck, then brought them back and set them up for instant use.

He spent a lot of time with me to explain how things worked & what I should do to keep my machines healthy. If your due for service, consider Mike.
